QUOTATION

Author — A(llan) MASSIE

Work — (The) MYSTERIES OF NAPLES

(The Wall Street Journal—May 28-29, 2016)

“The wise crime novelist repeats himself. He sticks like the proverbial cobbler to his last. He makes some part of the world . . . his own. His hero may be a loner like Philip Marlowe, but, more often, he will be surrounded by . . . sidekicks or subordinates.”
