QUOTATION

Author — M(ichael) CONNELLY

Work — THE ART OF DETECTION

(The New York Times—August 21, 2016)

“The crime novel . . . has always been used to reflect trends and lament losses and clang the bell of warning to the ills of society . . . the painstaking . . . steps of the undaunted investigator . . . riveted the reader while the . . . author slipped the message in with the prose.”
